FRENCH THREAT TO ARMY TREATY

Opposition Move Planned By Socialists

Paris, Mar. 24.

A major crisis is brewing in the Socialist Party over the European Army Treaty, the ratification of which largely depends on Socialist support.

Socialist Deputies are planning to send to all local party branches next week a pamphlet opposing ratification, informed quarters said today.

The organisers of this move claim that at least half of the 105 Socialist members of the National Assembly will sign the document. They hope to influence the vote of the extraordinary National Party Congress, which is to decide whether Socialist Parliamentarians are to support ratification.

The Party's Secretary-General, M. Guy Mollet, who leads the Socialist supporters of the EDC, is planning to summon the Congress in the first half of May, once Britain's new terms for association with the European Army have been made public.

Political quarters generally believe the Party Congress will vote in favour of ratification, but only due to the powerful block votes from the northern federations which support M. Mollet's views.

If, however, the Congress decides to impose party discipline in the ratification vote about 40 Socialist Deputies are expected to revolt and expose themselves to the threat of expulsion.

The Socialist opposition to the EDC is led by such notable party leaders as former Defence Minister, M. Jules Moch, former War Minister, M. Max Lejeune, and Chairman of the National Assembly, M. René Mayer.

"STRONG ENOUGH"

Grisly Finds In Caves Of Iwo Jima

Iwo Jima, Mar. 24.

Captain George Bieher of Williamsburg, Pennsylvania, an Air Force chaplain, estimated today there were at least 10,000 Japanese bodies in the thousands of caves honeycombing this former Japanese defence bastion.

Captain Bieher, who has charted 18 of the largest cave systems on the island, said he had seen "at least 5,000 Japanese skeletons and bodies" as he carried out explorations far below the ground.

The horror and savagery of the battle of Iwo Jima was rediscovered two days ago when the U.S. Third Marine Division landed here in an amphibious training exercise.

Captain Bieher, who is attached to the Air Force base here, has been exploring the caves since last autumn. One of the biggest systems he has explored is at the foot of Mount Suribachi.

He said the network of interconnected caverns hewn out of the soft volcanic pumice covered an area of 300 yards and was dug at four levels under the mountain.

"There are 120 steps between the first and second levels," he said.

Captain Bieher found hospital caves, messrooms and living quarters during his inspections. He once found a doctor's office complete with medicines, laboratory equipment, a swivel chair and the doctor's watch on a silver chain. Everything was burned to a black, powdery crust, he said, indicating that the cave had been destroyed by a flame-thrower.—United Press.

"Communists Are On Defensive"

—says Lord Salisbury

London, Mar. 24.

"There is no reason to suppose that the Russians are hunkering after a new war," the Marquess of Salisbury, Lord President of the Council, told the House of Lords today.

He added: "I should have thought they had every reason to dislike the idea as much as we do."

In his opinion, there was no doubt that Communism was "on the defensive" at the moment.

He said that freedom was very much alive in Eastern Europe and believed that while the Russians had encouraged other nations "with their hands behind their backs" to be directly involved in hostilities themselves.

He stated, "therefore, we may draw the conclusion that the Russians, with the Western Allies as strong as they have ever been, will not wish to embark upon a large-scale war."

When Mr. Sorensen said a large part of the Commonwealth resented the term "Empire" Mr. Crookshank said he did not know that he could accept that.

He said he agreed with an answer given by Mr. C. R. Attlee, when Prime Minister, to a similar question in May 1949 when he suggested that this terminology should "keep step with developments" without becoming "rigid or doctrinaire."

Colonel Alan Gomme Duncan, a Conservative, remarked: "Don't you agree that all they have over known of freedom in India and Pakistan has come from the Empire?"

There were loud opposition protests to this but no Government reply.

Mr. John Rankin (Labour) said "Commonwealth" was agreed to at a meeting of Commonwealth Prime Ministers but so also was the alternative "Empire".

Sir Thomas Moore, Conservative, said "Empire" meant law, order, justice, humanity and hygiene whereas Commonwealth reminded Englishmen of the times of Oliver Cromwell in the 17th century when Britain was a Commonwealth.

His remarks were punctuated by laughter from the Labour benches.

Mr. Sorensen said he was dissatisfied with the Government answer and would raise the subject again another time.—Reuter.

UK Exports Hit By German Trade

New York, Mar. 25.

German exports to Latin American countries rose last year, but it was at the expense of Britain, a report on Latin American business highlights by the Chase National Bank said today.

The report said that Germany's share of exports rose from ten per cent of the total supplied by Britain, the United States and Germany during 1952 to 13 per cent in the first nine months of 1953.

The report added: "But Germany's gains came at the expense of the UK."

In Brazil, where over-all imports were cut back one-third, imports from the United States dropped 49 per cent, those from Western Germany 39 per cent and those from the UK 70 per cent.

However, in Argentina, Western Germany's share rose sharply last year while the United States lost ground.

The report showed a rise of one per cent over 1952 in German exports to dollar account republics and a rise of five per cent in exports to other republics in the first nine months of 1953. British exports remained constant over the two years.—Reuter.

To Discuss Red China Recognition

Foreign Affairs Debate In Canada

Ottawa, Mar. 25.

The Canadian debates foreign policy today with the emphasis expected to be on the question of recognising Communist China.

During his recent world tour, the Canadian Prime Minister, M. Louis St. Laurent, said at a series of press conferences that recognition must come sooner or later, however much Canada might dislike a Communist regime.

Last Monday, he told the House of Commons the Government was not considering recognition "at this time."

The same day, the Minister for External Affairs, Mr. Lester Pearson, said in an interview that if China adopted a conciliatory attitude at the Geneva conference next month, Canada might take a new look at the situation.

The leader of the Progressive opposition, Mr. George Drew, so far has opposed recognition. In a foreign affairs debate last January, he said: "We want no bargain with the Devil!"—Reuter.

NOT PREPARED

United Nations, N.Y.

Mar. 24.

The United Nations Secretary-General, Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld, told pressmen here tonight that he was not prepared to state at the moment at what point Communist China should enter the United Nations.

He said in order to be truly universal, the United Nations Organisation should "include all the principal powers."

Mr. Hammarskjöld said his predecessor, Mr. Trygve Lie, had published a document stating that the veto could not be used with regard to deciding what regime should represent a country on the Security Council and that this was still the view of the Juridical Department of the United Nations Secretariat.—France-Press.

SOVIET MOTION

Geneva, Mar. 24.

A Soviet resolution which would have given Communist China a foothold in the United Nations was defeated today by 11 votes to five in the ninth session of the Economic Commission for Europe.

The Belgian and Czech delegations jointly presented a resolution to convene a meeting within the framework of the United Nations for the development of East-West trade relations.

The Soviet amendment was defeated, but the Belgian-Czech proposal, amended by Britain, was unanimously adopted.—France-Press.

Rome, Mar. 24.

Noted Italian music director and composer Willy Ferrero died today at his home.

Ferrero, who was born in Portland, Maine, of Italian parents on May 21, 1896, directed his first concert at Rome's Opera House at the age of six and was invited to the Russian Imperial Court in 1914.

At 19 Ferrero was appointed leading conductor at the Scala of Milan and of Rome's Augusteo Philharmonic. He directed his last concert at the Rome Academy of St Cecilia in mid-January.—United Press.

OBJECTS TO WORD "EMPIRE"

London, Mar. 24.

A Labour member of Parliament, Mr. R. W. Sorensen, suggested in the House of Commons today it was undesirable to use the term "British Empire" when it was "resented in India, Pakistan and Ceylon."

He asked the Prime Minister, Sir Winston Churchill, under what conditions the terms "Commonwealth" and "Empire" were officially used by the Government.

The leader of the House, Mr. H. Crookshank, who replied on the Prime Minister's behalf, said either or both terms could be used.

When Mr. Sorensen said a large part of the Commonwealth resented the term "Empire" Mr. Crookshank said he did not know that he could accept that.

He said he agreed with an answer given by Mr. C. R. Attlee, when Prime Minister, to a similar question in May 1949 when he suggested that this terminology should "keep step with developments" without becoming "rigid or doctrinaire."

ISRAEL CRITICISES COMMISSION UN Supervision System A Total Failure

US Senator Attacks Red-Hunting In Army

Washington, Mar. 24.
The chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Senator Leverett Saltonstall, backed by several of his committee members, said today the problem of Communists in the armed forces had been made to appear "far larger than it really is."

He made the statement as Army, Navy and Air Force officials told the committee there were 565 loyalty cases now pending in the active and inactive military forces.

The officials reported that 824 officers and men active and inactive had been discharged on loyalty grounds in the past five years.

These involved 82 in the Navy, 76 in the Air Force and 466 in the Army. The testimony showed differences in Navy and Air Force policy on giving favourable discharges to persons dismissed on loyalty grounds.

Two Democratic Senators complained that the Government was "discussing Communist" because current military regulations bar discharges for other than "good acts".

The Senators were told the Defence Department is considering legislation to prevent this.

Senator Saltonstall made no reference to Senator Joseph McCarthy (Republican, Wisconsin), who stirred up a row with the administration by accusing the Army of "red-dogging Communists".

But he said in a prepared statement at the close of his committee hearings on Communism in the military: "It is plain from these hearings that extraneous factors have made this problem far larger than it really is."—United Press.

Jerusalem, Mar. 24.
The Israeli Premier, Mr. Moshe Sharett, told Parliament today he was convinced the murder of passengers of an Israeli bus in the Negev desert last week was the result of a military operation, and Jordanians were guilty of this action.

He described as shocking the attitude of the Chairman of the Jordan-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission — Commander Elmore Hutchison of U.S.A. — and said it was indicative of the total failure of the entire supervision system.

Mr. Sharett said Israel could no longer belong to an organisation which disregarded the armistice provisions. He insisted Israel should be given arms for self-defence as long as there was no peace in that area because Israel wanted only peace.

For the same reasons, arms deliveries to the Arab States should be forbidden because the Arabs only thought of aggression, he said.

He indicated that his country was now turning towards the Western Powers and asking for a special session of the Security Council to study border incidents and the alleged aggressive acts by Israel's neighbours, including Jordan.

Following Mr. Sharett's speech in Parliament, several Deputies asked for reprisals against Jordan and the carrying out of a punitive expedition.

Mr. Menahem Beigin, leader of the right-wing extremist Freedom Movement, lashed out against the United Nations Armistice Commission. He said endorsement had prevented the publication in the independent Yediot Aharonot of an editorial demanding the expulsion of the Chief of the United Nations Truce Commission, General Yvan Bénaïke.

Beigin himself asked that Commander Hutchison be expelled from Israel within the next 24 hours. — France-Press.

ISRAELIS IMPLICATED?
Washington, Mar. 24.
The Jordanian Ambassador to the United States, Dr. Abdul Monem Rifai, said today if an act of aggression were committed by the Israeli side against Jordan, the Israelis would be held entirely responsible for the shattering of peace in that area.

Dr. Rifai said Jordan would be very careful to see to it that nothing happened.

In forming the recent bus outrage he drew attention to reports that the Chairman of the Mixed Armistice Commission in Palestine, Commander Elmore Hutchison, had said that Israelis might be implicated in the attack.

Dr. Rifai noted that there might be "terrorist elements in Israel who found it profitable to use such incidents." The Arab Government had the impression that Israel had the intention of reopening hostilities.

In the one hour interview which representatives of the seven Arab States had had with the Secretary of State, Mr. John Foster Dulles, yesterday no request for military aid had been made.

He said he had had a second interview with a senior State Department official this evening, but did not say what had been discussed. — France-Press.

UN TALKS
United Nations, New York, Mar. 24.
The U.N. Secretary-General, Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld, today said he had talked with members of the three Western great powers this morning on the subject of the deterioration of relations between Israel and its Arab neighbours, particularly Jordan.

Mr. Hammarskjöld called together representatives of the three-power signatories of the 1950 declaration guaranteeing peace and security in Palestine with a view to examining various aspects of the Middle East situation.

He indicated that consultations with representatives of the United States, France and Britain would continue. He revealed he might also consult representatives of other interested states and members of the Security Council, including the Soviet Union.

He pointed out all these States were responsible for preventing the situation from deteriorating further and for continuing efforts towards a peaceful solution of the Israeli-Arab problem.

In reference to a proposed conference between Israel and Jordan for the first half of April, Mr. Hammarskjöld indicated the situation had altered since he made the proposal some 15 days ago.

New factors in the situation were the murder of the passengers of an Israeli bus in the Negev desert, and Israel's withdrawal from the Mixed Armistice Commission. — France-Press.

THE MINISTER OF STATE FOR Foreign Affairs, Mr. Selwyn Lloyd, told the House of Commons today that Britain had been in close touch for over a year with the United States on the policy to be adopted in building up Japan's defence forces for the defence of Japanese territory.

He said, "The United States Government have kept Britain informed of development since that time. The Governments of New Zealand, Australia and Canada were also consulted."

West Australian Labour Secretary Says: "It's An Insult To Alter Royal Tour Plans Because Of Polio"

Adelaide, Mar. 24.
Western Australians consider the Royal tour alterations due to polio fears are an "insult" to their state, according to Labour Party Secretary, Mr. F. E. Chamberlain, who said he spoke for 70,000 workers.

Speaking in Perth today, he said he was convinced that if the wishes of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were known, they would even now follow the original plan, having regard to the negligible risk.

The absence of hand-shaking provision of special food and restrictions on presentations of bouquets by children would suggest that Western Australia was a disease-ridden community, he said.

The Royal Party had already visited countries where epidemics of tropical disease were frequent. And during the war, the Royal family shared risks with the common people.

"The living on the Gothic and the importation of food from other states amounts to slander on the health of Western Australia," he said.

The Royal couple, due to fly to Western Australia on Friday, today enjoyed their last full day of engagements in Adelaide, the South Australian capital. Tonight they were attending a massed musical and choral display.

Earlier the Duke made a scheduled visit to the joint British-Australian long-range weapons establishment at Salisbury, 13 miles from Adelaide.

He arrived in a private car which he drove himself with the official driver sitting beside him. He spent two hours seeing "backroom" preparations for top-secret trials of guided missiles at Woomera rocket testing grounds. — Reuter.

British Colonial Secretary Says National Synthetic Rubber Industry Unlikely

London, Mar. 24.
The establishment of a British synthetic rubber industry on a national scale was not in accordance with the British imperial policy, the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Oliver Lyttelton said at a dinner of the Federation of British Rubber Manufacturers.

He said "The establishment of a large synthetic industry under Government sponsorship should only be considered in the background of our imperial interests and of our imperial obligations to countries like Malaya."

"We used to complain of popularisation of synthetic rubber in the United States and it would indeed be paradoxical if we ever incurred the same criticism inside our own country."

"Our imperial interests are first of all to increase production and widen the use of natural rubber."

"There will be areas, no doubt, where synthetic rubber has some part to play which can not be filled by natural rubber."

"We have a large stockpile of rubber against an emergency."

DESPERATE
"It was clear to everyone when we came into office that the situation in Malaya was well-nigh desperate; many rubber planters and tin miners in Malaya told me so when I got out there two and a half years ago, and this was our last chance and so forth."

"Whether this was so or not, the situation has completely changed, and largely by the inspiring leadership and long and wise foresight of the High Commissioner, Sir Gerald Temple."

Mr. Lyttelton said: "There has been a slow but steady increase in the number of Communists who surrender."

"But while we should be proud of what has happened in Malaya, during the two and a half years which have elapsed since the present Government came into office, we must recognise that the Communists still have a military potential that ceases vigilance is required and that all is not over."

SHARP FALL
Mr. Lyttelton, referring to the recent fall in the price of rubber, said "barely had we begun to feel that we were on top of the emergency than a combination of factors caused a sharp fall in the price of rubber."

"You all know that a penny a pound in the price of rubber means a couple of million dollars lost in the revenues of the Federation. You know it well because the producers of rubber pay such a very high proportion of the total taxes in Malaya—40 per cent of its national income comes from rubber."

"The fall, of course, has had serious effects on the economy. The wages of tappers are now only about 60 per cent of what they were and there is at the moment a serious labour situation which I firmly believe the wisdom of the producers will overcome."

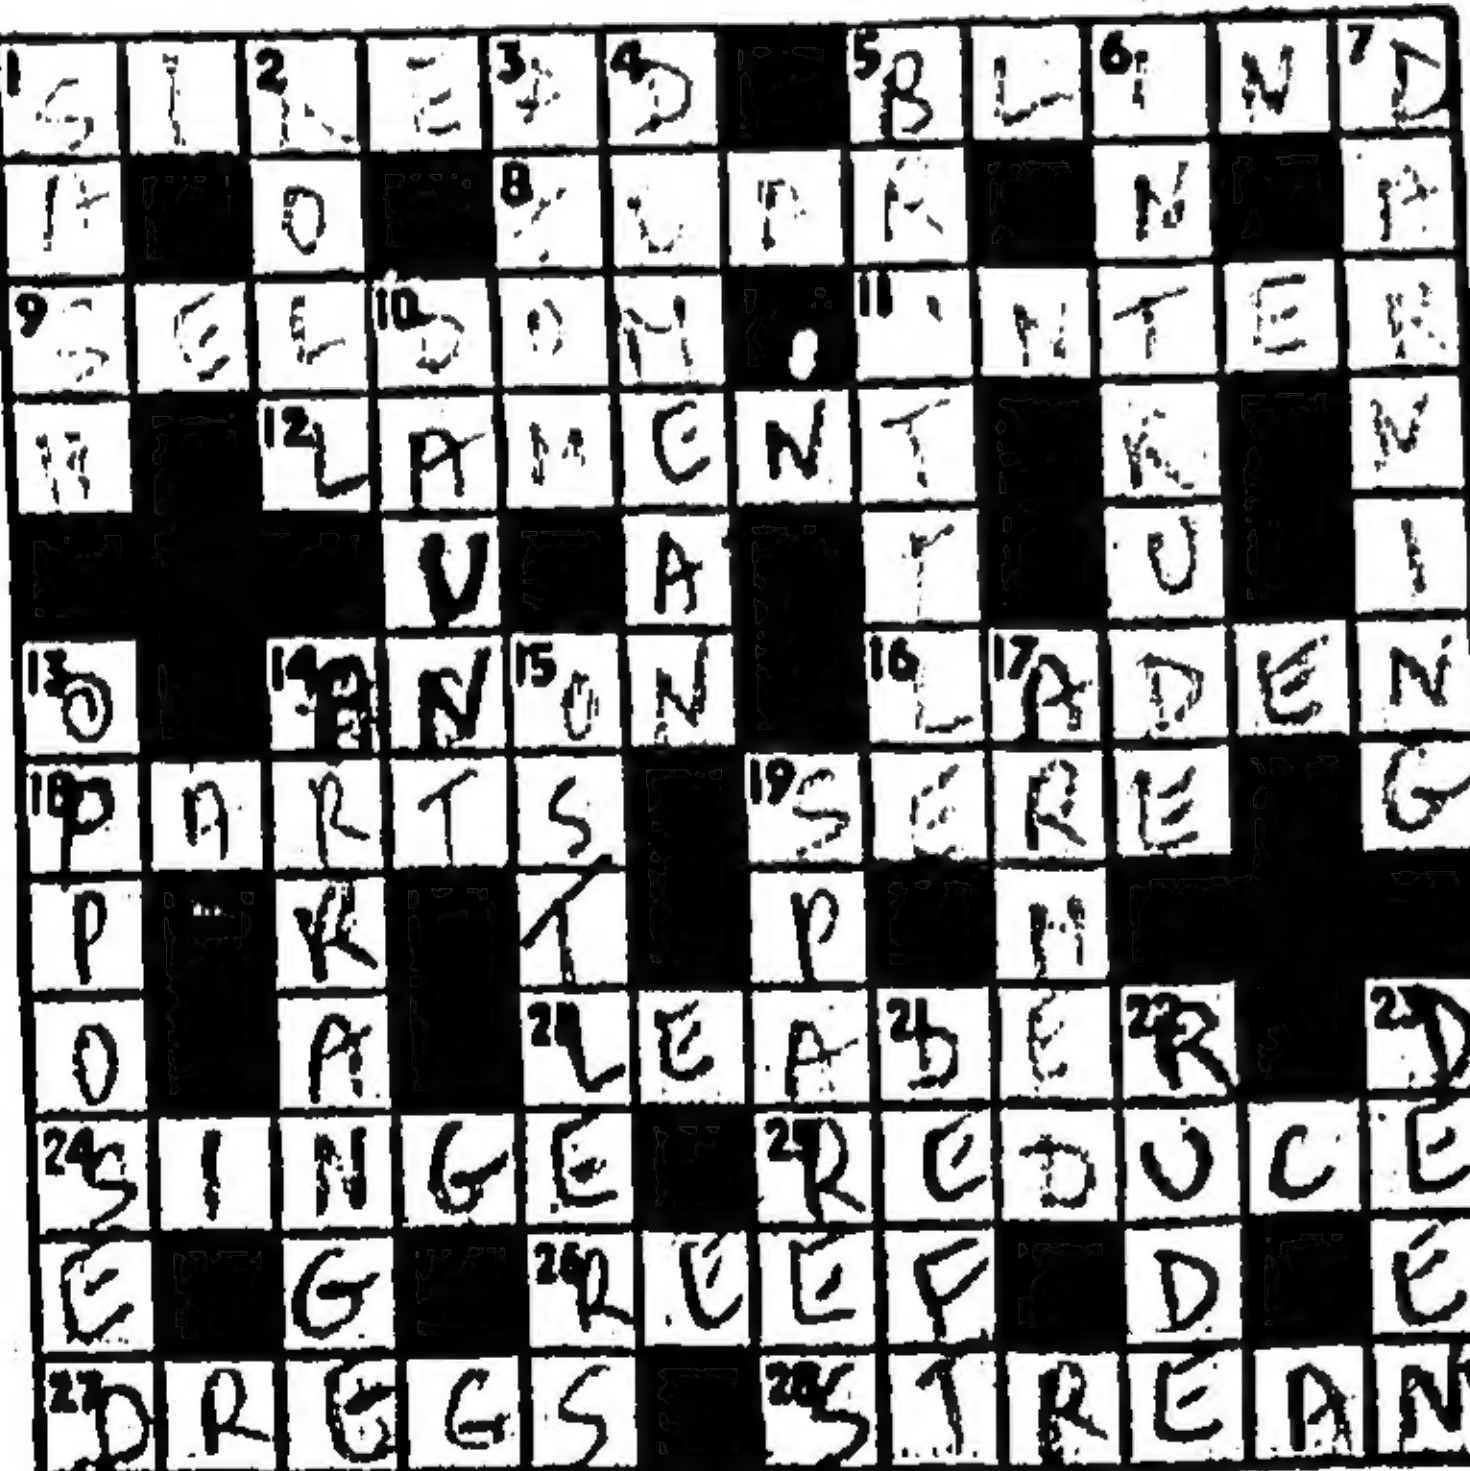

"The most essential thing in Malaya is to overcome the arrears of replanting. The owners are now replanting at the rate of about 50,000 acres a year and the small holders' plan calls for replanting 500,000 acres by 1960." — Reuter and France-Press.

Belgrade, Mar. 24.
The newly-appointed Yugoslav delegate to the United Nations, Ambassador Leo Matas, who is to leave to take his post tomorrow, said today he considered "good relations" between Yugoslavia and the United States had developed considerably in all ways in the course of recent years and would develop further along the same lines in the future."

He was speaking to a representative of the Tanjug news agency.

Mr. Matas saw no reason for any rearrangement in American military and economic aid to Yugoslavia. — France-Press.

Deportation Order For Man Who Worked Too Hard

Indianapolis, Indiana, Mar. 24.
An Assistant County Agent today protested an Immigration Bureau move to deport a young New Zealand exchange student who broke the law by shearing too many sheep for admiring Indiana farmers.

It was actually love that got the student, William Horner, 24, in trouble with the law. The family of a girl he spurned went to officials to complain about his spare time work.

Horner, a top student at the Lincoln Chiropractic College, was charged with working more than 20 hours a week, the limit for foreign students. Immigration Bureau officials for 30 to 60 days and released him on a $500 bond.

"Dogs it, we talk about international relations. That isn't good international relations," said Assistant County Agent C. J. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy, who appeared at the hearing, said Horner's behavior was "a disgrace" and that he was "a disgrace to the name of New Zealand."

Deportation Order For Man Who Worked Too Hard

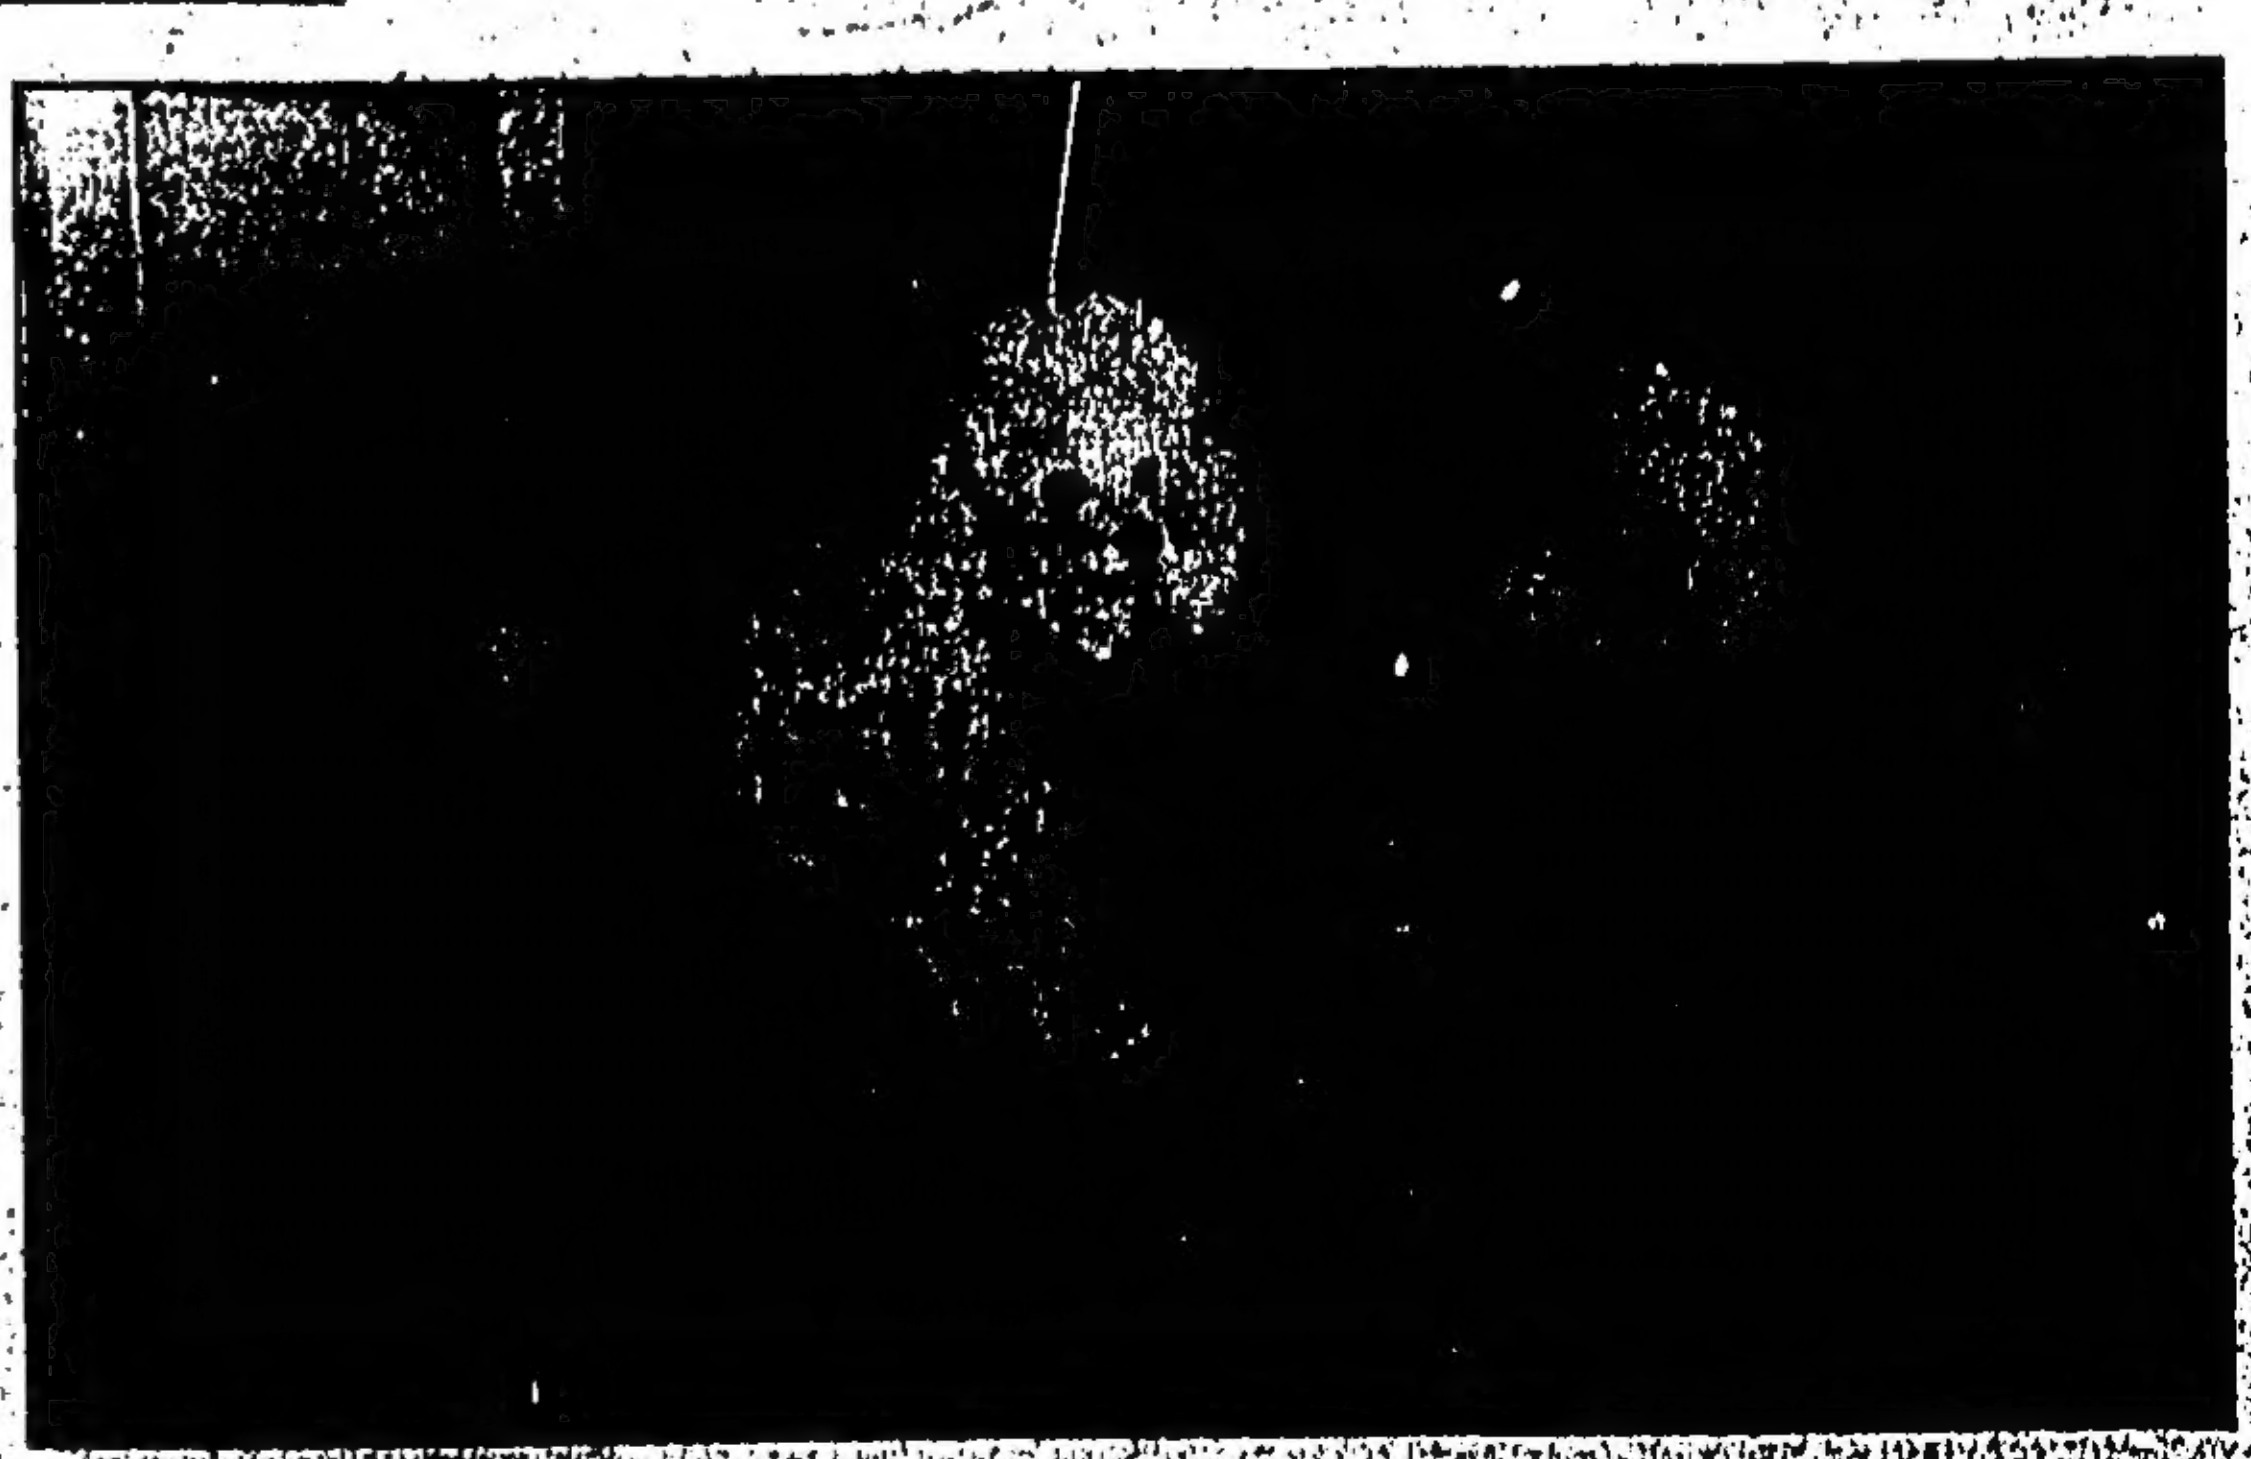

many of the young man's sheep shearing jobs.

Horner, described as a "very nice, clean-cut fellow," was just about the best man with a pair of shears that farmers near here had seen. He won the Indiana shearing championship at the 1952 State fair and was Indiana's representative in International competition in Chicago last year.

Friends said that Horner was just too "naive" about the immigration work regulations and other American laws. He forgot to pay income tax on the money he made, but settled with the Internal Revenue officials without trouble.

Murphy said that the youth's shearing technique "went over with a bang," with Indiana farmers. — United Press.

CLUB BEAT RAF 4-1 IN A FASCINATING FLUCTUATION OF FORTUNES

By I. M. MacTAVISH

It may be that at some future date a football genius will pin-point the reason for soccer inconsistency and save the fans, officials and players the pangs of disappointment and uncertainty.

Until then, however, we shall go on being fascinated by the fluctuation of team fortunes from one game to the next. Only seven days ago the Royal Air Force was on top of the world having scored a thrilling and meritorious victory over South China but against the Club at Happy Valley yesterday they were a very ordinary side indeed.

Gone were the determination and enthusiasm, gone too the skill and the polish that subdued the Champions. In their place we had uncertainty and casualness, desperation and in the end resignation. From a side with only one chance from last week.

WON DECISIVELY

The Club won this game decisively as the score suggests and in the end they might have scored further goals.

Three knocks were given and taken in the right spirit at the start but later there was a time when things started to get out of hand and two very serious fouls were committed. Fortunately the referee took a firm hand.

The Royal Air Force got an early lead when newcomer Morris in the Club goal mishandled a shot by Loader and allowed the ball to slip into the net.

It did not take the home team long to get back on level terms, and again it was a gift from the goalkeepers benevolent society. For this time MacLaren allowed a half-hat shot by McGregor to slip between his legs and trickle into the net.

The second half started with the side still level but two further goals from McGregor and one from Keane gave the Club a clear lead that they never looked in much danger of losing.

Morris in the Club goal appeared nervous in his first senior game but he was probably upset by his early error and may be worth another chance.

Armstrong played intelligently at right back while Macdonald provided the graft and back line where Morrow had a tough handful in Loader.

In the Club forward line Keane always looked dangerous when on the run, but MacGregor for his goals and Mullen for his early artistry were the leading lights.

SADLY DISAPPOINTING
In a sadly disappointing RAF side MacLaren had an uninspiring game in goal and might have saved both the first and second goals.

Douglas was the better back and gave Pickering a very lean time. Early on Douglas looked a good substitute for Jones at centre-half but towards the end he was being outrun and out-guessed by Keane.

Toth is not nearly such a good player when things are going against his side as he is when they are on top and Martin did not look a representative class player on this display.

Gibby received an early injury and finished the game on the right wing. Armstrong looked the most dangerous forward but seldom got the right sort of passes. Loader tried very hard but was eventually subdued by Morrow.

VERDICT: A decisive victory for the better team on the day's display. The Airmen failed to maintain their recent good form and were knocked off their game by a big and powerful Club side.

THE TEAMS

CLUB: Morris, Armstrong, Taylor, Macdonald, Forster, Gardner, Paton, Mullen, Keane, McGregor, Pickering.

SOCCER TEAMS FOR ASIAN GAMES

48 CHINESE PLAYERS TO DECIDE TONIGHT BETWEEN HONGKONG AND FORMOSA

Forty-eight local Chinese footballers were yesterday asked by the H.K. Football Association to declare tonight whether they will represent the Colony at the Asian Games next May — "a lifetime decision."

At a meeting of the HKFA Asian Games Committee, the HKFA Chairman, Mr. Jack Skinner, warned the Colony's younger players that under international rules if they represent anybody but Hongkong at the coming Games in Manila they will forfeit the right to represent the Colony at future Olympics or regional games.

This is a lifetime decision, not just for one game. But each player will make his own choice freely, Mr. Skinner said in an emphatic statement before the Committee.

The 48 Chinese players were asked to go to the HKFA office this evening after the Manila-Combined Chinese match to make the irrevocable decision which will once and for all establish which country they will represent in future international football competitions.

Mr. Skinner urged the Colony's younger players to remain with Hongkong. "China will produce all the players they want in the near future. As for Taipei, I'd like to see Taipei go ahead in any way they can go ahead."

The HKFA's "declaration of intention" move yesterday came as a result of the long tag-of-war between Hongkong and Formosa for the Colony's crack athletes.

for the Asian Games, only one month away.

The Chairman of the HKFA Asian Games Committee, Mr. L. G. Young, told the meeting yesterday that local Chinese clubs had responded only half-heartedly to the Committee's call for candidates for the Colony's Asian Games football team.

ONCE AND FOR ALL
Mr. Skinner said it was better "to settle the matter once for all as some of the players may have made other commitments."

The 48 local players recommended by the HKFA for selection to represent Hongkong at the Asian Games. The 60 are: Eastern—Lee Hing-lee, Fong Sal-gue, Ng Wai-tsun, Lo Wai-kuen, Tan Woon-chuk.

Aly Khan's Nahar Wins The Lincolnshire

Lincoln, Mar. 24.
France won the first big handicap of the English flat-racing season when the Aly Khan's horse, Nahar, scored a comfortable win in the Lincolnshire Handicap, run over a mile here today.

Nahar, a seven-year-old by Stardust out of Queen of Baghdad, started at 100 to 7 and was the first horse of his age to win this event for more than 70 years.

In the hands of the French jockey, Jean Massard, Nahar came through the field with a lunging go, to beat last year's winner, Sailing Light, the top weight, ridden by Sir Gordon Richards, by one and a half lengths, with Ambassador's Court three lengths away, third of 32 runners.

Sailing Light started at 20 to 1 and Ambassador's Court at 33 to 1. The 4 to 1 favourite, Dumbarnie, finished fourth.

Nahar had finished seventh last year when starting joint favourite for the race. The good going suited him today and though he was not too well drawn in the middle of the field, Massard brought him through well to take the race.

Nahar is trained by Alec Head at Malton, Leicestershire, and is the first French horse to win this race since Apin in 1925. He was the only foreign challenger in the race.

It was the smallest field since the war and the attendance in cold, windy weather was one of the smallest ever.—Reuter.

England Beats Germany In "B" International

Gelsenkirchen, Ruhr, Mar. 24.
England beat Germany by four goals to nothing in a "B" international soccer match here today. They led 1-0 at half-time.

A capacity crowd of 42,000 watched the match, which was the first soccer meeting of international status between the two countries since the war. England's forward, led the England team well and scored three goals. The other goal was scored by Les Shannon, Germany's inside right. German sports exports openly welcomed the disappointment with the performance of the German team.

HKLBA ANNUAL MEETING

Hongkong To Send Five Lawn Bowlers To Empire Games

Hongkong will send a five-man lawn bowls team to the Empire Games in Vancouver in July, the outgoing President of the H.K. Lawn Bowls Association, Mr. J. Noronha, told the General Meeting of the Association yesterday.

Mr. N. Rakusen was elected President and Dr. V. N. Aleniza Vice-President for the coming year at the meeting, which was held in the South China Morning Post Board Room. Others elected were: Mr. F. M. Marshall, Hon. Sec.; Mr. M. B. Hassan, Asst. Hon. Sec.; Mr. J. Tindall, Hon. Treas.; Mr. F. M. X. Silva, Hon. Auditor.

At the start of the meeting the President asked the members to stand for a few moments' silence in memory of bowlers who passed away last year. In particular Mr. U. M. Omar, who was always in the forefront of Colony bowls and Mr. L. A. Gutierrez who gave many years of service to the Association as its Hon. Treasurer.

Mr. W. Hollander was elected the Association's Hon. representative for the Empire Cup in England, an annual match between Hongkong players at home against a Home team.

The H. K. Football Association will donate $500 towards the fund for sending a HKLBA team to the Empire Games. Prison Officers Club will pay their dues but will not participate in the league as their greens are going to be pulled up and relaid. It was also learned at the meeting.

The meeting also: 1. Confirmed the minutes of the last annual general meeting; 2. Adopted the accounts; 3. Discussed the question of bringing forward the starting times for league games to 3.30 p.m.; 4. Voted its thanks to the S.C.M.P. for the use of its board room, and to the League Management Committee and the Hon. Treasurer for the help rendered during the past season.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH
The outgoing President's speech, in part, follows: "There is one matter of particular interest, that is that Hongkong will be sending five representatives to participate in the Empire Games to be held in Vancouver in July of this year. Thanks are due to Mr. Rakusen, our representative on the Olympic Committee, for looking after our interests so well."

"We already have 28 players who have signed their willingness to go if selected. I foresee immense difficulties in arriving at a final choice and offer for consideration that the solution be for the team to be made an international one. As it happens the cream of our bowlers would just fit in with it."

You Can't Buy Loyalty, Says Arsenal's Tom Whittaker

Is the power of Arsenal declining? Is the team too old? Has Tom Whittaker been swayed by sentiment in team selection? Are Arsenal too loyal to the old stars? Is the old fighting spirit still there? Is Highbury prestige waning? What of the future?

These are the frank questions I put to manager Tom Whittaker, and here is his equally frank reply: "We have never regretted our loyalty to players," he said. "There is no sentiment in team selection. We pick the man in form."

"What young players could have done better than our older men? It was their tremendous spirit that carried us clear after a disastrous start. They know what is expected of an Arsenal player."

"We played a practice game to sort out a few problems the other day. The boys knew how important it was and played at full match tempo, giving everything they had."

"Arsenal teams have always been judged by exceptionally high standards. That calls for tremendous concentration, and you can't maintain it for ever. You can't buy loyalty such as we get from our players. I have only ever known one man—Ray Daniel—ask for a move from Highbury."

"The average age of our team last August was about 30. That was cut down to 20 at Burnley. A drop of four years in a few months."

HOUSEHOLD NAMES
"Many of our boys have become household names because of their loyal service with the club."

"Don't forget that for the past few years we have been running for Cup or League honours. That wasn't the time to experiment. You don't play around with a match-winning combination."

"Once we were out of trouble I was prepared to use this season as a transitional period. I can try out the youngsters, looking ahead to next year and the following season. One cycle of success comes to an end, we plan for the next. That is the Arsenal way. There may be mistakes, but we all learn from our mistakes."

"Arsenal's world prestige is as high as ever it was. The team is still a star attraction at most grounds. Arsenal is the match of the year, and Highbury is the envy of the world because of the spirit and loyalty of our players."

DESMOND HACKETT'S COLUMN

RUSSIAN MYSTERY GROWS DEEPER

The great Arsenal-for-Moscow plan has become a mystery deeper and murkier than the mighty mother Volga.

It is one long, weary month since the Department for Culture of the Soviet cabled to the Football Association inviting the red-shirted heroes of Arsenal to go to Moscow for two games on August 2 and August 6.

In that long month, little brothers, nothing has happened, nothing at all. One and all seemed to be passing the buck as though it were a Mills bomb with the pin out.

The Football Association formally passes the invitation to Arsenal. No reply. First, Arsenal say they must have a full-scale board meeting to make any decision. Then they say they have heard nothing direct from Moscow.

The Football Association shrugs its shoulders with the sad air of a droschky driver who has been short-tipped. "What can we do?" they ask. "Arsenal do not reply so we cannot say to Moscow that the Arsenal terms."

NO TERMS OFFERED
And Arsenal drag the thing on like a Russian tragedy with their little piece: "How can we reply when we have not been offered any terms?"

Trying to break things up before the whole affair disappeared under a shroud of dust I tried Arsenal again, asked: "Suppose the terms and conditions were all right, would you be glad to accept?"

The reply was as guarded as an atom plant: "We would give it very careful consideration but we cannot do anything before the end of the month when the board meets."

Which is, of course, where we came in. At Arsenal, are trying to play hard to get. This is not the season for being coy. They are a soggy team and the old glory is wearing thin.

A couple of cables to directors out of the country would sensibly speed up the decision. A brief "Yes, thank you," would enable the Football Association to suggest we export either West Bromwich Albion or Wolves.

HKCC TEAM
The following have been selected to represent the Hongkong Cricket Club in the Harrow Shield Cricket match against Kowloon Cricket Club, which is scheduled to be played over the week-end at Chater Road.

The match will commence on Saturday at 2 p.m. and on Sunday at 11.30 a.m.

I. L. Stanton, C. J. B. Leader, G. H. P. Pritchard, G. T. Rowe, D. W. Leach, H. Owen Hughes, K. G. Spink, L. D. Kilbee, A. Harvey, S. Van Oort, A. Bruce, T. G. M. Graham.

Umpires: P. J. Hart and F. Marshall. Scorer: R. McAdam.

TOP MEN CRITICISE SPONGE BAT

Bah or ignore the sponge rubber bat. That seems to be the consensus of opinion among Britain's leading table tennis players.

Here are the views of four players on a memorandum in which the English Table Tennis Association asked for comments: "This follows the Association's idea of using Eric Erskine, former English champion, and Corbillion Cup teams in the use of these bats for the world championships at Wembley."

DISCOURAGE IT
Johnny Leach, former world champion and a member of England's team: "I think it would be a sign of weakness to ban the bat. They should just be discouraged. If a player wants to use one—then let him."

"I find that it is more difficult to control your play when using them."

Victor Barna, five times world champion: "Surely it is the rules that are at fault. There is nothing to say what bat may be used. If a new rule laying down the size was framed then this would outlaw the sponge bat."

BAN IT
Harry Vemer, Surrey No. 1, and a member of the Swaythling Cup team: "Ban it—otherwise table tennis as a spectacle will be finished."

"I think that the game should depend on the player rather than material."

Jack Carrington, director of coaching: "The complete strokes played would be wanting the bat anyway. It only seems to help the ordinary player."

There is a separate cabin for every member of the crew. The main cargo space consists of 33 giant tanks.

TANTALON CASTLE III

Due in London soon is the 7,400-ton motor vessel Tantalon Castle. Still to make her maiden voyage to South and East Africa in the Union Castle service, the new cargo liner (she will take only 12 passengers) is the third of her line.

First Tantalon Castle, a sailing ship of 1,037 tons, took the earliest Scottish agricultural emigrants to Cape Colony in 1877.

The second broke the record by carrying 384 passengers from South Africa to Britain in May 1895.

New York, Mar. 24. The stock market had another late shake-out today — not as severe as the one yesterday, but sufficient to wipe out the month's gains in industrial stocks.

Fuller of Pennsylvania Railroad directors to declare the dividend usually ordered in March, touched off the selling late in the afternoon after an uncertain early market.

The Company, which has paid a dividend yearly since 1948, may declare one later, since there is no regular time for the declaration. However, market men were quick to use the omission as an excuse for selling what some commentators called an over-extended market.

As was the case yesterday, rail stocks, which have lagged badly behind the rest of the market for weeks, and the air-crafts, which have had a steep rise in recent sessions, were main targets for selling.

Also in a repeat of yesterday's pattern, prices rebounded from the lows when no real selling developed.

The sell-off today occurred on smaller volume and total turnover of 1,900,000 shares compared with 2,180,000 yesterday.

Some market men look for a bit more selling still to be absorbed as technical considerations dictate the market action. They pointed out, however, a still impressive backlog of supporting factors such as easy money, shrinking bond yields and tax relief.

Of 1,140 issues traded, 610 were lower, only 274 higher. A few issues, however, moved strongly against the general trend. Gulf Oil, in particular, featured. It rose 2 1/2 points to a new high at $55 on a good earnings report.

Pennsylvania Railroad was the most active issue. It fell 1/2 to $16 1/2. The NY stock exchange bond volume was $3,040,000, and the American Stock Exchange volume was 420,000 shares.

Dow Jones closing averages were:

TO DECLINE
No Recovery
Seen In March Figures

Signs of the eagerly awaited spring pick-up have yet to appear in the American steel industry, says the Washington correspondent of the London "Financial Times."

No fresh rush of new orders has appeared, and steel production—instead of rising—has been declining. It is believed that production during the week beginning March 8 was the lowest in any week this year.

Steel executives frankly admit to being disappointed by the March performance. They had generally expected that March—normally one of the best steel months of the year—would mark the beginning of a recovery in steel activity.

But it now appears that production has gone down for the third consecutive week.

Output fluctuated at a rate between 74 and 75 per cent of capacity during the first seven weeks of the year, eased to 73.8 in the week beginning February 22, dropped again to 70.7 from March 1, and then was scheduled at 68.9 per cent last week.

If production was at the scheduled rate, output fell to 1,042,000 net tons—the lowest for any strike-free, non-holiday week since March 6, 1950.

February steel output, incidentally, had been the lowest for any strike-free month since September, 1949.

HIGHER CAPACITY

Production of 1,042,000 tons during the past week would compare with an output of 2,284,000 tons during the same week of 1953—when the industry operated at 101.3 per cent of rated capacity.

Last year's capacity estimates were based on a January 1, 1953, annual capacity of 117,547,470 tons, while the current estimates are based on a sharply expanded January 1, 1954, estimate of 124,330,410 tons.

Steel industry officials have shown no disposition to read the latest output figures as a sign that steel demand has taken a turn for the worse.

But where they had looked for an upturn in March they now believe the industry will be fortunate to match its February performance.

Now that the recovery has been pushed back another month, the industry is looking to April.

Whether the recovery will, in fact, appear probably depends almost entirely on Detroit's motor-car industry. March has been disappointing because anticipated motor-car demands for steel did not materialize—or at least have not as yet.

MOTOR-CAR SALES

An influx of large motor-car industry orders would cause an upward movement in April. But retail sales of motor-cars will determine whether vehicle production will be increased and whether in the chain of events steel demand will begin to climb.

The steel industry is uncertain how large a part is being played in the current situation by customer inventories. It knows that the reduction in steel inventories has continued far longer than steel executives had anticipated it would when the fact of the inventory cutbacks first became apparent last autumn.

The expectation then was that the inventory adjustment in steel would be over by the end of the fourth quarter of 1953. But the correction process is still under way.

The most recent cutback in steel output is said to reflect an inventory adjustment at mills rather than the continuation of customer stock changes.

Mills had acquired substantial holdings of semi-finished steel in anticipation of the March demand increase for finished products that failed to develop. Input output, therefore, has been reduced to enable the mills to cut their inventories of semi-finished metal.

The Iron Age, the authoritative magazine for the industry, said at the mid-week that mill inventories of ingots and semi-finished steel were more than 10 times above normal at the beginning of this year, and had been sharply since then.

The Journal said its steel scrap composite price was down another 13 cents, a ton, to $22.50.

It said that the industry is "in a bit of a bind" in that it cannot have worked the inventories down, and that re-ordering will not then be forthcoming.

But it is disturbed because it has had this idea for several months.

Consumption of steel, the industry is convinced, is exceeding production. But all the orders have not appeared.

Users have been reducing inventories partly because of market prospects, partly because of the sharp change in the supply situation since last summer.

Large inventories are no longer necessary since the producers now can quickly deliver in response to orders—the normal situation in steel.

Deliveries that required seven to eight weeks lead time as recently as last Autumn, now are being made within three weeks of the time the orders are placed.

The industry is disappointed and cautious about 1954, but not deeply concerned. There has not been a sharp break and some products—particularly the structural shapes needed in construction and the tubular goods used by oil companies—are in strong demand.

JOHN CLARKE'S CASEBOOK

Journey To Peace

FOR the first few months after Donald their boy left their home in Fifehire the mother's and the father's day revolved about the postman's calls.

Each day as they saw him approach on his delivery round, the middle-aged couple became faint and tense; and if he should push open their gate their hearts stopped beating.

When they picked up their letters their hands were trembling.

But the letter they longed for, from their son, never came.

A LETTER ARRIVES

HE had not been a satisfactory son, Donald, but, conversely, as parents will, they loved him, perhaps, even more because of the worry and unhappiness they had spent upon him.

Now he was gone and they lived in fear that he might get into some kind of serious trouble, and need them, and not have them near.

The other morning a letter whose envelope bore a London postmark was among the parents' morning mail. It informed them that Donald was in a remand prison after being found in unlawful possession of a pair of women's shoes.

The parents knew exactly and at once what to do. The father had been ill for some days, but that was not allowed to make any difference.

TO LONDON

MOTHER and father put on their best clothes and caught the night train to London to stand by their son.

They found their way to Bow Street and to the probation office there, from which the letter had come.

A sympathetic probation officer presently took them across to the court. But the long journey had done the father no good, so he sat outside, while the mother, as trim as if she had been going to see her son receive prizes at school, took a seat behind the dock.

Donald's case came up towards the end of the morning.

DRINKING

HE is a dark, fowled, handsome man of 24, and now the probation officer went into the witness-box to tell Mr. Bertram Reece, the magistrate, what he had learned of his history. "He left home last June, he walked out of the house," the probation officer said. "There is no good reason for his coming to London, except that his work record since he came out of the Army has been bad. He had a good record till then, but since he seems not to have been able to settle down, and he has got into bad drinking habits."

"He got worried about his drinking, and went into a hospital as a voluntary patient, but they found there was nothing inherently wrong with him. Since he came to London eight months ago he has had only two casual jobs of short duration."

UNTOLD ANXIETY

HE told the magistrates about Donald's parents and their journey. "A very noble effort," the magistrate said.

"They're only too glad to stand by him," said the probation officer. "They've felt he's been drifting away from them." "Have you ever thought of all the anxiety you've caused your parents?" Mr. Reece asked Donald. He nodded glumly. "If I let you go back with them, how are you going to behave when you get there?" the magistrate asked.

"All do me, best," said Donald. "A fine, strong voice." "Well, pull yourself together, and try to be a help to your parents to whom you've caused untold anxiety," said the magistrate. He put Donald on probation.

Donald was shown from the dock for the formalities to be completed. His mother left by another door and joined her husband. That night all three travelled north again, and there was peace in the hearts of the parents for the first time since June. The long journey had been abundantly worth while.

OUR AUSTRALIAN NEWSLETTER

Royal Tour Still Dominates Everything

FROM H. KING WOOD

Sydney, Mar. 19.

By now only a little more than a fortnight of the Royal Visit remains. By the time you people read this the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will be in South Australia, then the West and the Gothic will sail on April 1.

The visit, of course, has been successful beyond all hopes, and already there is an authentic ring about the statement that the Queen already has made plans to return in eight years. It can be taken for granted that the Duke will be back in 1956 for the Olympic Games, so all in all, while we may have had our failings as far as organisation is concerned, things can't have been too bad.

Points from the Royal Cavalcade: The Royal Dalmians already have had a couple of duces, it's not the cheering mob—it is uniformed characters getting in and out with buckets and swords.

Two trees, planted in the grounds of Government House, Sydney, have been transplanted by the Governor. A circular wall and flagging has been built around the site where the Queen's tree now stands—just to make it a bit harder for loyal Sydney-siders who might have ideas about swiping it in the dark of night.

The Duke of Edinburgh brought tours of laughter with an impromptu act as the Royal car passed through Brisbane. Three thousand school children lined the area and in front of them stood the Asot State school brass band. The Queen drew the Duke's attention to the bandboys. The Duke then half raised himself from his seat. He leaned behind the Queen, stretched his two hands in front of his mouth, and moved his fingers up as he gave an imaginary flourish of a musician fingering a concert. He played an imaginary instrument for about five seconds and caused such thunderous cheering that the Queen looked behind to see what had happened. It is human touches like this that are making our visitors go over in such a mighty big way.

A Dishes of the World feature is to be included in a food exhibition to be held in London this month. The food requested from Australia was—guess?—"a game bird known as galah." The Country Women's Association packed a galah in dry ice and air-freighted it to London—for better or worse. Maybe in the dim distant days outback a nicely baked galah might have been the high spot of the Sunday meal, but today they are definitely not on the menu.

KEEPING CLOSE WATCH

A Japanese tuna fishing fleet operating off Western Australia is being watched closely. The Federal Government is taking precautions to see that none of the ships come within the three-mile limit.

The presence of one of the ships was reported on February 27 by passengers on a liner steaming towards Fremantle.

A RAAF Neptune long-range bomber investigated the report and found another three ships about 45 miles off the coast. But what is puzzling authorities here is how the Japs can make a financial do of tuna fishing so far from home. They say that few organisations in Australia could afford the capital to undertake large-scale fishing as carried out by the Japanese.

Master pearlers in northern Australia waters have asked the Federal Government to stop Japanese luggers poaching their pearl beds in the Ararat Sea. They claim the Japanese luggers until they began to fish for pearls. Then the Japs came up the rest of their fleet of 25 luggers and quickly cleaned out the beds.

The master pearlers also claim that the Japs are taking half-grown shell and say they will ruin the industry unless stopped.

Geneva Talks Success "Vitally Important"

London, Mar. 24.

Lord Salisbury, speaking for the Government in the House of Lords, said today that it was of "vital importance" that next month's Geneva conference on Korea and Indo-China should succeed.

Success would depend above all on the attitude adopted by Russia and China, he told the House of Lords in a debate on British foreign policy.

"If Russia and China seriously mean to use the Geneva conference as an instrument for restoring peace in the world, they will certainly find us not unco-operative," he said.

Lord Salisbury, President of the Council, said success at Geneva would restore the world's confidence and "bring us back considerably on the way to better times."

It would bring a relaxation of tension which would benefit all nations. He hoped that would be the spirit in which Russia and China would go to the conference.

Other subjects he dealt with were: Russia; There was reason to believe the Russians were not hankering after a new world war. Russia was on the defensive today. Western ideas were slowly infiltrating beyond the Iron Curtain in Eastern Europe.

The large mail Mr. Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary, received in Berlin from Russia occupied Germany was only one of many signs that freedom was "very much alive" in Eastern Europe.

European Defence Community: He was confident of full agreement on the form of Britain's association with the EDC. "A very large measure of agreement had already been reached. Britain was in touch with France and other countries on outstanding points. Once they had arrived at an agreement, full information would be given to Parliament."

"Any doubt about our sincerity if there are any, will then be removed. It will be seen that we are going as far as we possibly can to associate the United Kingdom with the EDC."

It was equally essential for the United States to be associated with the defence system of Western Europe, which was today as much an essential bastion for America as the Low Countries were to Britain in past times.

HIDEOUS REALITY

Hydrogen and Atom Bombs: These were a "hideous reality." "The danger was that someone, somewhere would so conduct his country's affairs that almost imperceptibly and unintentionally, it would be driven into a position from where there was no withdrawal without national humiliation."

Lord Henderson, a Labour Peer, who opened the debate, said he thought arrangements should be reached between the East and West which would make possible "an interlocking of the two systems, based on reciprocal guarantees against any aggression in Europe."

On this point Lord Salisbury said it was "vitally important" that the Geneva conference should succeed. "If it fails, it will be a blow to the confidence of the world in the Government of Great Britain."

FIVE SOLDIERS ON TRIAL

Objection Raised By Defending Counsel

An objection that the cautioned statements of five men of the Royal Artillery charged with assaulting a taxi-driver were not made voluntarily was brought by their defence counsel at Victoria District Court before Judge J. Wicks this morning.

The five are Gunners Alan Williams, Gordon Crawford, Bernard George Francis, George Benjamin Ballam and Samuel Hughes, all of the 20th Field Regiment, 45 Bty, Royal Artillery. Mr T. Shurlock is defending the first and fifth accused, while Mr A. S. C. Comber appears for the other three. Both are instructed by Major F. J. Williams of the Directorate Army Legal Services.

Mr Shurlock said he objected that the cautioned statements made by Williams and Hughes were not made voluntarily but, made as a result of threats.

Mr Comber made a similar objection on behalf of the second and third defendants.

Continuing with the hearing of evidence from yesterday, the Court adjourned for 15 minutes to examine the text concerned in the alleged assault.

The driver sat in the driving seat while five people sat in the places alleged to be occupied by the defendants.

The driver, Leung Cho-ye, then demonstrated what happened on the evening of January 3. After the demonstration Leung was cross-examined by Mr Comber.

Leung said he was treated for injuries at the Yuen Loong Dispensary. He was allowed to go home but did not go back to work for one week.

Dr Yuen Sing-tsang told the Court he had treated Leung on the night of the incident but his injuries were not serious.

Mr Comber: Could the injuries stop Leung from going back to work the next day? Witness: Leung had a contusion on his head and I would not like to say with an injury such as that.

Mr Comber: Is the word contusion a medical term for bruise?—Yes.

DEFECTIVE EVIDENCE

DSI William Steele Paton said after Leung had reported the incident at the Castle Peak Police Station he drove toward the Castle Peak Hotel. On the way he saw three of the accused.

He stopped and asked them where they were going and where they had come from. They replied they had walked from Kowloon. He asked them to get into the back of his car. He asked how he could have got the stain on his arm he said he must have picked it up at Kowloon.

Det. Paton said he asked them to accompany him to the Police Station. He said he went to the Castle Peak Hotel area and made a search. There, near the 10 milestone, he found the other two accused Ballam and Hughes. They said they had walked from Kowloon. He took all five back to the Police Station for further questioning.

Det. Paton said he later viewed the accused separately. He questioned Hughes first who stated he arrived at Kowloon about 4.30 p.m., walked around for an hour, then started to walk back to Sek Kong. He was arrested on the way.

Det. Paton said he pointed out to Hughes that it was impossible to walk the distance indicated in the time stated. Hughes then indicated he would "tell the truth." He was cautioned and he made a statement.
